CONTINUOUS DISCLOSURE AND SHAREHOLDER REPORTING POLICY

CONTINUOUS DISCLOSURE AND SHAREHOLDER REPORTING POLICY

1. OVERVIEW OF THE POLICY

This policy sets out the standards, protocols and the detailed requirements expected of all Directors, senior management and employees of Acrux Limited (the 'Company') for complying with the Australian Securities Exchange Listing Rules ('ASX Listing Rules') relating to 'Continuous Disclosure' and for communicating effectively with shareholders.

2. OBJECTIVES AND PURPOSES

2.1 Objectives and Purposes

The purpose of this policy is to:

- (a) ensure that the Company complies with relevant standards and principles for disclosure of and provides equal access to relevant information concerning the Company and its affairs and to promote quality communication between the Company and third parties such as shareholders, the investment community, the media, the Australian Securities Exchange ('ASX') and other appropriate stock exchanges;
- (b) describe the processes implemented by the Company to ensure such compliance;
- (c) outline the strategy of the Company to promote effective communication and encourage effective participation in general meetings with shareholders.

2.2 ASX Guidelines

The Company is committed to maintaining good standards in corporate governance and adherence to the Corporations Act 2001 ('Corporations Act'), ASX Listing Rules, ASX Corporate Governance Principles, the ASX and AusBiotech Code of Best Practice for Reporting by Life Science Companies and any other relevant ASX principles.

The Company has a corporate governance process designed to ensure that Company ASX announcements:

- (a) are made in a timely manner;
- (b) are factual and are accurate;
- (c) do not omit material and relevant information; and
- (d) are expressed clearly and objectively to enable investors to assess the impact of the information when making investment decisions.

The Board is responsible for approving and monitoring compliance with this policy. The effectiveness of this policy will also be evaluated on an as needs basis.

3. CONTINUOUS DISCLOSURE

All material (i.e., price sensitive) information will be immediately disclosed to the market in accordance with the ASX Listing Rules. Once the Company is, or becomes, aware of any information concerning the Company that a reasonable person would expect to have a material effect on the price or value of the Company's securities, the Company will inform the ASX.

The materiality of a particular matter will be determined in accordance with the ASX Listing Rules and the Company's corporate governance guidelines and procedures. Events that are likely to be the subject of disclosure include, but are not limited to:

- (a) material changes in the financial performance, financial position or projected financial performance of the Company;
- (b) significant pre-clinical or clinical trial results;
- (c) commencement of significant phase I, phase II or phase III trials;
- (d) entry into of material license or other collaborative relationships;
- (e) changes of Directors or senior management.

Following the announcement to the ASX, the information will be posted on the Company's website and may then be released to the broader investment community and the media.

Major financial results will be communicated to employees of the Company and its controlled entities immediately following a public announcement.

The ASX Listing Rules permit the Company, in certain circumstances, not to disclose material information.

3.1 Determination of 'materiality'

Determining whether an event or transaction may materially affect the price or value of the Company's securities is difficult and requires judgement. The market's expectations, perceptions and sentiment toward the Company may be as relevant as the amount of money involved in the event or transaction.

The Chief Executive Officer or the Company Secretary, in consultation with the Board, will determine whether a particular event or transaction has the material effect required for a disclosure to be made by the Company to the ASX.

It is therefore important that the Chief Executive Officer or the Company Secretary is consulted regarding the necessity to disclose a particular matter.

3.2 Exception to ASX Disclosure Requirements

The Company's obligation to disclose price-sensitive information does not apply if, and only if, each of the following conditions are and remain satisfied:

- (a) a reasonable person would not expect it to be disclosed (because, for example, the result of disclosure would be unreasonably prejudicial to the Company); and
- (b) the information is confidential (i.e. not in the public domain) and the ASX has not formed the view that the information has ceased to be confidential; and
- (c) one or more of the following conditions apply:
 - (i) it would be a breach of a law to disclose the information; or
 - (ii) the information concerns an incomplete proposal or negotiation (for example, a negotiation to enter into a new contract); or
 - (iii) the information comprises matters of supposition or is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure; or
 - (iv) the information is generated for internal management purposes; or
 - (v) the information is a trade secret.

The Chief Executive Officer or the Company Secretary, in consultation with the Board, will make a decision as to whether the Company can rely on this exception to its disclosure obligations. Under no circumstances should any other person make decisions regarding whether this exception applies.
